Since 5th July 2026, Cox’s Bazar District has experienced an intense heavy monsoon rainfall associated with a monsoon depression over the Bay of Bengal. Although the system later weakened into a well-marked low-pressure area inland, active monsoon conditions continued to bring widespread heavy rainfall, rough sea conditions, and localized severe weather impacts across the district. As of 12 July 1800 hours BST, Cox’s Bazar had experienced a cumulative rainfall of 810 mm since 5th July, recorded as the highest continuous rainfall volume for monsoon season in Cox's Bazar compared to the previous years. The prolonged rainfall has caused significant humanitarian impacts across both the 33 Rohingya camps and host communities in Cox’s Bazar district. In the camps, heavy rainfall and saturated slopes triggered landslides, ooding, wind-related damage, and infrastructure disruptions, damaging shelters, WASH facilities, access routes, pathways, retaining walls, and essential service points. The impact has also extended to adjacent host communities, where heavy rainfall worsened ooding to at least 49% of Cox's Bazar district's administrative jurisdiction particularly in Chakariya, Pekua, and Matamuhuri sub-districts, disrupting mobility, communication, livelihoods, and access to basic services along damaged shelters, critical infrastructures, and services. In response to the escalating situation, Bangladesh Red Crescent Society (BDRCS) activated its Population Movement Operation (PMO) Emergency Operations Centre (EOC) and mobilized sta and volunteers to support early warning dissemination, emergency relocation, incident monitoring, damage assessment, search and rescue support, and immediate assistance to aected households using available contingency resources. BDRCS has also continued coordination with camp Disaster Management Committees (DMCs), local authorities, Cyclone Preparedness Programme (CPP), Bangladesh Meteorological Department (BMD), the Rohingya Coordination Platform (RCP)- Emergency Preparedness and Response (EPR) Working Group, Site Management, and relevant sector actors. However, with continued rainfall forecast and ground conditions already saturated, the risk of further ooding, landslides, displacement, damage to shelters and services, and depletion of existing response capacity remains high.

DESCRIPTION

Impact in 33 camps:
Between 5 and 13 July 2026, a total of 518 weather-related incidents were reported, affecting 11,183 households (51,363 people) across the 33 camps. The incident caused damage to 4,656 shelters and displaced 13,038 individuals. To date, 15 fatalities and 22 injuries have been recorded. These figures underscore the significant humanitarian impact of the ongoing monsoon conditions and highlight the need for continued monitoring, preparedness, and response efforts, particularly in areas at heightened risk of flooding, waterlogging, and landslides.

Impact in Host community:

Based on available data, a total of 139,081 affected population across all the sub-districts of Cox's Bazar. Out of this, 1,195 shelters have been damaged, 124 damaged bridges, with 15 deaths, 19 injured, and 1 missing person reported.

According also to preliminary information, about 2,566 individuals have been evacuated and temporarily accommodated in evacuation centers due to inundation of water from rivers and streams due to the continuous heavy rains in Cox's Bazar.

At present, BDRCS is closely coordinating with relevant authorities and other humanitarian and development agencies as part of its monsoon monitoring process.

ACTIONS TAKEN BY OTHERS

In the camp settlement, the Government of Bangladesh, through the Office of the Refugee Relief and Repatriation Commissioner (RRRC), is monitoring the overall situation through camp-level Disaster Management Committees (DMCs) to support timely response and a standardized assistance approach. Fire Service and Civil Defense (FSCD), together with Armed Police Battalion (APBn), is engaged in emergency search and rescue operations, while the Bangladesh Armed Forces Division (AFD) remains on standby to provide support as needed. In host communities, the Deputy Commissioner's Office has activated the district-level EOC to monitor early actions by the Cyclone Preparedness Programme (CPP), BDRCS local branch and sub-district administrations. The Deputy Commissioner's Office has announced humanitarian assistance for affected populations, although the support remains inadequate compared with needs. More than 700 emergency shelters have also been opened to accommodate evacuees from at-risk areas and reduce loss of life from landslides and flooding. In addition, Government authorities including RRRC Office and Deputy Commissioner (DC) Office-Cox's Bazar have both kept provision of continuous monitoring of the situation through their EOC. In addition, there is provision of triggering contingency funds allocated for districts which will be very much specific to the host community only. For camp settlement, from the Government end they have their provision to monitor the situation and work closely with humanitarian partners in responding effectively and efficiently based on further escalation of the monsoon crisis in the near future. Led by IOM and UNHCR and implemented through a network of national and international NGOs including ACTED, BRAC, DRC, MBSS, NRC, CARE, Oxfam, BDRCS, IRC, World Vision, Mukti and others, the emergency response has focused on life-saving shelter, site management, WASH, protection, health, nutrition, food security and education interventions. Partners are conducting rapid damage assessments, relocating at-risk households, supporting rescue operations, providing temporary shelter and emergency food assistance, repairing critical WASH facilities, delivering psychosocial support and protection referrals, disseminating early warning messages, and maintaining essential services despite challenging access conditions. The Rohingya Coordination Platform, jointly with the RRRC Office, has also issued joint messaging to accelerate monsoon preparedness and scale up community readiness across all 33 camps. On the other hand, UNDP and other key partners are actively engaged in host community programming have triggered contingency funds (an amount of 300,000 BDT for Ukhiya and Teknaf sub-districts) to support sub-district administrations in providing humanitarian assistance to affected families.
